August is a month of plants with the word ‘weed’ in them. Horseweed is finishing up its season and the tumbleweeds are starting to produce their flowers. Ragweed and vinegar weed are still green and have not produced flowers yet. The tarweed and Jimson weed are in bloom. You can also see common sunflowers along the roadsides.

Burrowing owls

Starting to grow up

Loosing their downy feathers and developing plumage feathers. They can stand and walk well.
Parents are still feeding the fledglings.

Vocalizing.

Spreading their wings and doing some sunning to warm up.

Learning to take a dirt bath.

Wing practice.

Take time out and sit.